Course content

Why Attend

Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) are essential tools for measuring progress, improving accountability, and supporting better business decisions. However, many organizations struggle with selecting the right KPIs, collecting accurate data, and presenting results in a meaningful way. This course provides participants with practical tools to design effective KPIs, build reporting systems, analyse performance trends, and communicate results clearly to management and stakeholders.

Course Methodology

• This course uses an interactive and practical approach through presentations, case studies, dashboard workshops, group discussions, reporting exercises, data analysis activities, and real workplace examples.
